

N LUXURY

DAVIES

BRING

FASHION & HOME ISSUE!

Our Trio of Town Tastemakers
Cindy Sherman Plays Dress Up at the DMA
John Tesar's Latest Weapon: Spoon

1. Handprinted and handpainted fabric and wallpaper by Porter Teleo, price upon request, at David Sutherland Showroom
2. Layers felt fabric, by Hella Jongerius, $140-$275 per yard, Maharam
3. Silver and 18K cuffs by Brooklyn artist Darcy Miro, $500-$3,350, at Jerry Szor Contemporary Jewelry
4. Handmade American black walnut side table, by BDDW in New York City

WENDY KONRADI

The Designer

You might call Wendy Konradi's style one of high contrasts and graphic details: precisely cut platinum hair, necklace from the K/LLER Collection in porcupine quills and bronze, all framed by a palette of black or white. Konradi, an interior designer who trained with Naomi Leff in New York and has been working with Emily Summers Design Associates here since 2000, favors both the delicate and strong. Airport security once stopped her because her Alexander Wang handbag had grommets that looked, to TSA eyes, like bullets. Accessories, whether on her body or in a room, are always bold and exude fine craftsmanship. "I do like high contrast. I'm often teased that of all the colors in the spectrum, my favorite color is white, both in fashion and interiors. White is such an equalizing

